

Facebook Comments Policy for Senator John Barrasso

Senator Barrasso, page administrators, contributors, editors, and/or authors reserve the right to edit, delete, move, or mark as spam any and all comments. They also have the right to block access to any person or group from commenting on or from this page.

All comments within this page are the sole responsibility of the commenter and not that of Senator Barrasso, page administrators, contributors, editors, and/or authors. By submitting a comment on this page, you agree that the comment content is your own, and to hold this page, all subsidiaries, and representatives harmless from any and all repercussions, damages, or liability.

This page is “family friendly” and comments which include offensive or inappropriate language are prohibited. Furthermore, if comments are considered by Senator Barrasso and/ or page administrators to be rude and/ or offensive, they will immediately be deleted.

In the interest of all parties, no personal attacks are permitted in this page’s comments. You may question or argue the content, but not attack Senator Barrasso, or any other commenter’s. Failure to respect fellow participants on this page could result in removal and blocked access.

Any comment which does not add to the conversation, or runs off on inappropriate tangents, or kills the conversation may be edited, moved, or deleted. Comments that make unsupported accusations will also be deleted.

Any comment assumed to be possible comment spam will be deleted and marked as comment spam.

This page is set up to automatically hold any comments with links, in moderation. Posting comments with links may delay your comment from appearing on this page. Any comment with more than two links could be marked as comment spam.

All e-mail, snail mail, phone numbers, and any private and personal information posted in any comment will be deleted as soon as possible to protect the privacy of the commenter. To prevent such editing, never share this private information within the page comment.

Anyone who violates this Comments Policy may be blocked from future access and/or commenting on this page.
